

Teletronics - a Curtiss-Wright company is the world's leading total system solution provider for defense and commercial aerospace test applications. TTC provides a wide range of high-performance, reliable, modular, programmable, miniaturized and resilient Commercial Off The Shelf (COTS) hardware and software products. Our products are the ideal solution for your instrumentation, telemetry, display and control, communications, recording and network-based data acquisition applications.

Scanivalve's MPS4264 can be used in flight test for inlet distortion, and engine test applications. A miniature pressure scanner which integrates 64 pressure channels, interfaced by TCP/IP Ethernet connectivity.

